

MOTORISTS TO PEOPLE MUST BE INFORMED

Herald Auto Editor Stays on Job Thursday Night to Help Owners.

Registration Forms Are Printed Here

The difficulty of securing forms from Austin for making application for the new state license has been overcome. The El Paso Printing company has offered to supply the automobile department of The Herald with several thousand blanks and the first supply is promised for this afternoon. Ellis Bros. printing company have tendered an offer of all the truck application blanks needed.

Telephone lines leading to The Herald have been busy during the past two days with inquiries regarding the new Texas state highway law and the motor car license. Here are the answers to some of the problems which will be of interest to all motorists:

A second supply of application blanks should reach here by Thursday afternoon. The automobile editor will be at The Herald office on Thursday evening from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock to supply the blanks and to assist motorists in determining the proper horsepower of their cars and the state fee.

As to Carriers and Ford. The bore of the Carrier, 1912 model, is four and one-eighth inches and the horsepower rating is 27.22. Two inquiries were made on Tuesday for this information.

Ford cars are registered on a basis of 22 horsepower, with a tax of $3.25 for the first six months.

If you do not know the rated horsepower of your car, ask the automobile editor to supply him with the size of the bore and number of cylinders.

Give Car and Engine Numbers. Don't try to register your car without having the numbers of the car and the engine in all engine numbers.

Visitors Have 30 Days. Visiting motorists from other states are allowed 30 days without having to take out a Texas license, except that if they remain in Texas over 30 days, they must register, secure a number plate and pay a fee of $1.

"Hope" For Outlawed Motorists. A Sierra Blanca motorist writes The Herald for information as to how motorists in outlawing districts can secure the forms for making application for license. It is suggested that the gasoline tax be applied to the application blanks. Motorists unable to secure blanks in their own towns can get them from The Herald. If the motorist will state the make of car, model, bore of cylinder (if known), car number and engine number, the blanks will be filled in and the state tax figured so that the motorist need only sign the form and forward to Austin with a money order for the proper amount. Applications for these forms should be addressed to the Automobile Editor, The El Paso Herald, and be accompanied by a stamped envelope for return.

EIGHTH CIVIL APPEALS COURT OCCUPIES PERMANENT HOME

The eighth court of civil appeals has been moved to its permanent quarters on the fifth floor of the new court house. In addition to the court room, offices have been provided for the judges of the court, an office for the clerk and a vault room. The temporary quarters occupied by the court will become the permanent quarters of district attorney Leitch Clark. The offices are on the third floor of the court house.

55 ALLEGED CONSPIRATORS TO BE TRIED AT SAN ANGELO

Dallas, Texas, June 26.—Fifty-five men indicted for alleged conspiracy against the federal government, will be tried in San Angelo, Texas, according to an announcement today. The date of the trials was not divulged. The indictments are the outgrowth of recent agitation against the selective draft law.

OIL CARS ARE WRECKED; INDIANA TOWN BURNS

Linden, Ind., June 26.—The little town of Kirkpatrick, just east of here, was virtually wiped out by a fire caused when a train containing seven cars loaded with oil was wrecked in the center of the village and exploded. One man was burned slightly and there were a number of narrow escapes. Kirkpatrick has a population of about 400.

PERUNA Household Helper

Peruna eases the burden of the housekeeper by keeping away the danger of illness resulting from colds, coughs, and indigestion due to catarrhal condition. It speedily relieves and overcomes these.

Its tonic properties build up the strength of the physically weak and run down, and its use in convalescence, especially after grip, is remarkably beneficial. A dose or two in time often prevents a long illness.

KEEP IT ON HAND

The wide knowledge that Peruna on hand for instant use even in catarrhal troubles do not call for its regular administration. A dose or two in time often prevents a long illness.

BRITISH SUFFRAGIST LEADER, MRS. PANKHURST, IN RUSSIA

Peterburg, Russia, June 26.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the British suffragist leader, arrived unexpectedly in Petrograd yesterday. Mrs. Pankhurst conferred with Eduard Rood and Charles Edward Russell at the winter palace regarding ways to assist Russia in the struggle with the common foe.

MR. BURTON SAYS THAT ONE OF THE REASONS FOR THE "STRANGE JELLY" OF THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES WAS THE POLICY OF CLOSE CENSORSHIP PRACTICED BY THE ENTENTE ALLIES AND THAT THIS POLICY ALREADY "HAS COST COUNTLESS THOUSANDS OF LIVES AND UNTOUCHED TREASURES."

After nearly three years of war on a scale such as the world never dreamed of before, involving country after country, and sweeping steadily on, like an overwhelming tidal wave, with warning after warning of the most definite character—the Lusitania, the Sussex, the Arabic—with lightning flashes and deafening peals of thunder from the darkening skies to tell all who were not blind and deaf of the approaching storm, despite all of these today finds great masses of the population throughout the United States dangerously apathetic and indifferent to the fate which threatens them. It also finds this country astoundingly unprepared.

"I am not one of those who believe the allies can be defeated—they must surely conquer in the end; but so serious are some features of the war situation today that unless the people of the United States are awakened quickly to a full sense of their individual responsibilities and join heartily in the work of organizing the country for war, on a national scale, there is almost certain to ensue a long period of ghastly fighting and world wide suffering—ruin and starvation on every side—and by a long period I mean from five to 20 years, or more."

"The war program cannot be made effective without the full cooperation of the people. That cooperation cannot be expected until the people have been aroused to a full and complete understanding of the war."

Wide Publicity Campaign Imperative. "I would like to repeat with the utmost emphasis what I had the privilege of stating recently to the Literary and Artistic Association of New York, that it is absolutely essential for those who are shaping the general war program, without further delay, to organize and project, under government direction, a great and far-reaching campaign of information designed to make the people understand this war. It should be made to reach the eyes and the hearts and the full understanding of the people by freely using the advertising and publicity of the public buildings, the public conveyances, as was done in the great publicity campaign which was successfully used to arouse the people of England to a full sense of their responsibility to the war effort. In addition to this, schoolrooms, the lecture halls, the churches, the libraries, the city halls, the public squares—all the meeting places of the people in every part of the United States, should be filled with the voices of America's greatest and most forceful speakers, telling the people the full truth, the basic facts about this war."

Modified Censorship Needed. "If, coupled with this urgently needed campaign, there could be accomplished a radical revision of the French and English censorship rules, permitting a much freer flow of all sorts of war facts and war developments from the fighting areas than is possible under existing conditions, the effect, I feel sure, would be enormously beneficial to the whole allied cause."

"For instance, would it not be the height of wisdom to reverse the policy which even yet conceals from the world the full truth about the incredible atrocities in Belgium, atrocities which, if possible, have been outdone in Rumania, and which up to now have not been publicly disclosed; adopting a new policy which would release to the whole world the story of appalling barbarities perpetrated by the Germans there—many of them too horrible to tell from a purely public platform, but all of them serving to show the people here what they might expect in the event of a Hun invasion of the United States; exposing fiendish devilry which caused thousands of poisoned candles, filled with typhus germs, to be dropped from German airplanes for Rumanian children to pick up; and, the shocking story of how brutal troops and soldiers forced gentle and refined Rumanian women to disrobe in public and then drove them in groups through the streets; the story of Rumania's pitiable plight today, with disease raging unchecked for lack of surgeons, physicians and medical supplies; the countless stories of noble heroism of human sacrifice and suffering for a great cause, which show in their true light the details of modern warfare, so persistently concealed and so urgently needed to stir the people's pulse and to make them feel and realize the truth and the full truth about the gigantic struggle between right and right on the one side and might alone on the other."

"Reversing the policy of secrecy, let the people at home have true pictures of the war as it really is, and I firmly believe the response would be electric. The people of the United States would rouse as one man to their task, fired with patriotic fervor born of a full and true understanding of what this war means to them and their future, of the individual obligations it imposes upon those at home as well as upon those who are constantly facing death in the firing line for the sake of those at home."

Mr. Burton said that one of the reasons for the "strange jelly" of the people of the United States was the policy of close censorship practiced by the entente allies and that this policy already "has cost countless thousands of lives and untold treasures."
